What is an Amnesty Program for Unpermitted Accessory Dwelling Units (ADUs)?

An Accessory Dwelling Unit (ADU), also known as a "mother-in-law" or "granny" unit, is an additional living unit that has separate kitchen, sleeping, and bathroom facilities, attached or detached from the primary residential unit on a lot. An unpermitted ADU is an existing ADU which was constructed without permits at a time when permits were required for the unit or at a time when ADUs were not legal in the city. For a limited amount of time the City will provide an amnesty period, during which time property owners of existing unpermitted ADUs may apply for reprieve and legalization of the unit.

If the existing unit is not legalized or removed during the amnesty period the City may begin code enforcement action against the property owner after the conclusion of the amnesty period to either bring the unpermitted unit into conformance with the Accessory Dwelling Unit regulations or remove the illegal unit. In such cases, the illegal unit may be subject to the applicable penalty fees.

The Amnesty ADU Process— In General

Amnesty for an existing unpermitted ADU may be reviewed at the ministerial level if certain criteria are met (see the inside of this brochure for more information).

Step 1: Meet with a Planner. A planner is available Monday-Thursday from 7:30am-5pm and on Fridays from 7:30am-noon. The planner will review the amnesty requirements.

Step 2: Prepare plans and application materials. The plans do not need to be drawn by an architect, but must be neat and to scale.

Step 3: Submit your application and plans. Staff will review your application for completeness and let you know if you are missing any materials.

Step 4: Inspection. Schedule a Accessory Dwelling Unit Housing Inspection with the Building Division and Fire Department.

Step 4: Permit issuance. If the ADU meets all of the ministerial requirements Staff may issue an ADU permit. You may then apply for a building permit to construct the unit.

How much does it cost?

Contact the Planning Division for a list of current fees. You can also obtain planning fee information by going to the City's website (www.ci.sausalito.ca.us) where you can download the fee schedule, application form, and submittal requirements.
