Subject: ADU regulations

I returned home from a week vacation to find the latest in Sausalito's movement to degrade the quality of life of the residents. This newest plan to allow ADU/grannie unit construction to block existing views without a review process is appalling. Sausalito has maintained its unique character and charm through the many building restrictions that exist. These should be viewed as a positive. Although I understand that already many of Sausalito's residents are renters many of us are heavily invested both monetarily and emotionally in living here. Our quality of life and property should be protected against this latest attempt to cater to greed, development and the housing element. What is the priority here? It should be protecting those who love living here and have their life saving invested in their home, not creation of more rental units for the housing element.
