

For Sausalito City Councilmember

Melissa Blaustein

Age:32

Occupation: Sustainability Commissioner and Non-Profit Executive

COVID19 has been difficult for Sausalito families and businesses, but it has also highlighted why we are so special. Whether we are delivering meals or handing out free masks, we've come together to take care of our community.

Although national elections get the most attention, local races determine our everyday quality of life. More than ever we need to be open to fresh ideas, regional partnerships, and hands-on problem solving.

I am focused on workable solutions that will support a healthy future, and protect local services, our environment, and our local economy.

Building a coalition of business owners, community members, and city leaders, I successfully helped to spearhead the single-use plastics ban.

As a Chamber Boardmember, I'm working to support local businesses in their most vulnerable time.

Our work at the Blue Ribbon Committee on Housing helped ensure that new Sausalito residential housing will require affordable units.

As a member of the General Plan Advisory Committee, I championed a collaborative process which developed strong sustainability guidelines for our new General Plan.

I remain focused on delivering meaningful outcomes. I will listen, collaborate, and focus on results that support a healthy future. I ask for your vote.
